- SAP Angela and PRO Kenn are both sick.

Agenda 2: Interview of SAP OFAD

Lorelle Salude, the SAP OFAD applicant, introduced herself to the council. Moving forward, everyone immediately proceeded with the questioning.

- SAP Eunice asked if she could take the position of the assistant secretary, knowing that the previous SAP OFAD was the assistant secretary. She answered that she was willing to get out of her comfort zone.

ARMAND G. ATON, Ph.D.

- PRO Kenn asked how will you make sure that the students understand the information you are disseminating. She answered, asking for clarification, openly asking them, just basically connecting with them.
- SAP Kathe asked how she would handle confidentiality. She stated that she would always ask for permission. Stating that there is a hierarchy inside the Student Council.
- SAP Ivan asked what OFAD is. She answered that they mainly focus on stenography, we focus of course within our office. After graduating, we can work in public-private organizations.
- SAP Ivan then asked what the SAP position is. She answered that the SAP is the mediator between the council and organizations.
- SAP Ivan followed it up by asking what are the other responsibilities of a SAP not included in the CBL. She stated is to be a good role model—be the face of the organization.
- SAP Ivan, for his last question, asked if she agrees that the SAP position is being over exploited. She answered "It does not matter if I am higher or lower than someone. I have to clear my intention, what matters to me is that I will be useful as much as I can be.
- Mr.Zhiro asked what qualities should a SAP have to be effective and stand out in the OFAD program. She answered Professionalism and Enduring.
- Sec. Minea asked that if she was indeed elected as the assistant secretary would she be able to do it. She stated yes, she is trying to adapt to the environment. Quoting "I'm always willing to learn".
- Sec. Tina asked if she is willing to know the process and put in the same effort as the other secretaries. She answered "Yes po, I always prepare myself. Hindi ko po hahayaan na may maiwan akong responsibilidad".
- Mr. Kristian asked how she would manage her time. She said she is willing to set aside unimportant matters.

- SAP Charles asked how she would encourage the students to participate. She said that they are currently working on something to enhance student participation.
- VP-E Jefferson asked why it was only now that she became involved. She responded that the academic year is now more manageable, allowing her to participate.
- VP-E Jefferson then asked how she plans to make YOPA more well-known. She answered that she was also surprised to learn that BSOA exists. To address the question, she hopes her organization will allow her to prepare a speech to encourage and promote awareness among students.
- Moving forward, Sec. Daniel asked whether she is for CSG or YOPA. She responded that she is for the students and cannot easily leave YOPA. She needs to carefully weigh both sides.
- Sec. Daniel asked if she has leadership experience to which replied, she is a leader in their church. Sec. Daniel added if she can handle pressure. She responded that she would gladly embrace pressure.
- Auditor Cristina asked if they are considered an organization. She replied that yes, according to the CBL, they are. Auditor Cristina corrected her, stating that no, we are not an organization, we are a government. She then asked which area she is more inclined to work for. The applicant stated that she is mainly for the CSG and believes that is where her role fits best.
- Auditor Cristina asked, "What is SAP for you, without the influence of others?" She replied, "Stand between the gap, and serve as a bridge for YOPA and CSG. Especially when it comes to her program and CSG." The auditor followed up, asking how she will fill the gaps and what are those gaps. The applicant responded that she will not be behind when it comes to information; to have that direct access from CSG when obtaining information.
- Auditor Cristina asked whether the PRO was not effectively delivering announcements for her to feel the need to step in. She responded that the lack of proper announcement dissemination mainly occurs at the Class Representative level, not among higher-ups. She added that there is room for enhancement and improvement in how class representatives relay announcements.
- Auditor Cristina then asked how she would engage students in participating and understanding the information being disseminated, and what activity she would propose. The Applicant suggested a "YOPA Monthly Review", where evaluations and feedback can be gathered. She explained that sometimes what is perceived as a lack on the students' side might actually be an issue within YOPA itself. She emphasized the importance of accepting feedback and learning from others' experiences.

- Auditor Cristina agreed, noting that CSG members often face criticism because people expect perfection. She asked how the applicant would handle constructive criticism. The applicant shared that some of her classmates do not like the way she talks or leads. However, she stated that it does not matter if others dislike her leadership style because she is there to serve, not to please. She acknowledged that everyone has their own way of leading and expressed her willingness to listen, learn, and apply lessons from feedback. Auditor Cristina added that leaders need to adjust, especially when faced with criticism, and commended the SAP OFAD applicant for her response and demeanor.

- VP-I Ken commended the applicant's way of speaking and presenting herself but mentioned that he was not fully satisfied. He reminded everyone about the importance of maintaining proper decorum during meetings.
- He then asked what leadership style best describes her. The applicant answered that she is a selfless leader who prioritizes others first. She provided examples of how she puts group activities ahead of personal matters, especially when others are involved.
- VP-I Ken asked if she was sure that she is a student leader, and why. The Applicant responded that she is both a servant and a student leader, saying: "I don't live focusing only on myself. I always try to consider and understand the issues and problems in my environment."* She emphasized that one does not need to hold a title to serve others and that she reaches out to people even without being in a leadership position. VP-I Ken encouraged her to continue sharing her words of encouragement and assured her that, if chosen, it would not be out of convenience but because of her genuine qualities and dedication.
- VP-I Ken asked if the applicant believed she had the knowledge to contribute as part of the CONCON. She replied that, to be honest, she was not yet very familiar with it. She agreed that the system is outdated and mentioned that she is still in the process of learning more about it.
- VP-I Ken emphasized that as a Cvsueño and a second-year student, she should already be aware of the issues. He asked her to clarify her earlier statement about serving the students. She explained that through the access she has, she intends to fulfill the department's needs, while also acknowledging that she has observed other issues within the campus.
- VP-I Ken then asked if the SAP OFAD has any purpose. She answered that yes, she believes SAP OFAD plays an impactful mediating role between the YOPA organization. However, she admitted she is still in the process of adjusting and learning.

 ARMAND G. ATÓN

- VP-I Ken remarked that currently, SAP seems to lack purpose, but this will be addressed through the CONCON, where they will serve as senators.
 - VP-I Ken presented a metaphorical question: "What if you're fishing and your companion catches all the fish — what would you do?" She answered that she would assess if that was her only resource and would look for alternative ways or sources instead.
 - VP-I Ken asked if she planned to run again next term. She said no, explaining that next year would be difficult to adjust to, and she does not want to give a service that the students do not deserve.
 - VP-I Ken asked about her OJT this year. She replied that it will only be 200 hours for the whole semester, and she assured that she will not neglect her responsibilities in the organization despite the OJT.
 - VP-I Ken asked if she can stand her ground for what is right, even when everyone is against her. She answered yes, explaining that she has prior experience handling such situations, though it depends on the specific issue at hand.
- President Gil reminded her that all voices are welcome and that she should avoid using the word "lang" (only), as there is no "lamang" in her position. She advised her to stay firm with her answers, noting that there are no right or wrong responses.
 - President Gil asked how she could assure them that she would not leave her responsibilities. She replied that once she commits to something, she remains steadfast despite hardships and will not back out.
 - President Gil emphasized that actions matter more than words, then asked what part of the CBL she would revise. She answered Article 4, Section 8, noting the limited facilities and the need to use rooms only when necessary. She also cited another article on information dissemination, stating that not all information should be shared.
 - President Gil responded that it is important for all information to be made clear and understandable. She then asked what issue she had observed and how she would solve it. The applicant identified the liaison process and information dissemination as areas for improvement.
 - President Gil asked how she perceives the CSG symbol. She replied that it represents heart and passion.
 - President Gil asked if she believes personal sacrifice is necessary in leadership. She said that while sacrifice is needed, she does not believe that personal life should be one of the things to sacrifice.
 - President Gil asked how she would fight for the student. The applicant answered that she would act according to her calling and position, choosing to continually show up regardless of challenges.
 - President Gil asked if she was willing to question the administration. She replied yes, she would.

ARMAND C. ATAN, F.I.C.

- President Gil stated that the general perception of SAP is as mere assistants or errand workers, and asked how she would change that perception. She responded that through her performance and actions, she will make her impact visible and evident to the students.
- President Gil asked her to define her leadership in three words. She answered: Impactful, Effective, and Fruitful.
- To lighten the mood, Auditor Cristina asked her usual question, "how will you eat an elephant?". She replied, "I would choose not to if it is not necessary."
- President Gil concluded the interview by advising her not to aim for perfection, but to aim for excellence instead.

The President then inquired about possible problems that may arise throughout the project's progress. Mr. Ivan emphasized that the main concern is security, suggesting that the system should use a paid hosting service for better control and monitoring. Meanwhile, the Vice President for Internal (VPI) inquired how the project could be expanded for the next term, and Mr. Ivan proposed to form external partnerships to sustain the initiative.
